About Doug Drendell

"I was born in Stockton, CA and attended Stockton public schools. I have always been involved in art and graphics and was into drawing and painting at a very early age... I attended college at California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, CA, where I studied commercial art and graduated with a BA in advertising/advertising design. I worked in the business printing industry for several years as a business print designer, art/advertising director and eventually vice-president of marketing and sales...

Designing and executing single, bi-annual and annual ad campaigns, directing public relation events, interacting with both ad agencies and controlling the company's art department along with participating with high ranking clientele and their promotional needs, left little time for the "fine" art ambitions that I had always wanted to pursue... It wasn't until a couple of years ago that I actually picked up the brushes and really started getting back into it. I felt like I "had come home!" I officially retired in the third quarter of 2013 and have been able to spend quality time putting my talents to use and have been able to acquire a small studio that allows me to enjoy my retirement to the fullest. I enjoy sharing my artistic experiences in teaching art to students of any age."

Artist Reception: Saturday, Feb 9, 4-7pm.

Drawing Class with Raoul Mora

(3 Spots Left Available)

2nd Thursday Instruction with Raul Mora Session:

$15.00/ month. Class meets as usual during Open Lab.

Includes Open Lab Sessions Every Thursday from 3-5PM

Open to the public and SAL members, Basic Concepts of drawing are vital to every visual artistic medium. Mora brings his 39 years of experience as artist, teacher, and judge to the Stockton community at the Elsie May Goodwin Gallery.

Students will participate by practicing the basic concepts of contour drawing, sketching, and shading with black and white before going on to colored pencil.

Contact Ruth Koon, Thursday Drawing Class Coordinator, at (209) 329-8115

Due to an overwhelming submission of new and renewal memberships, the roster will not be listed in the February Collagraph.

By March 1st, 2019, the current 2019 membership roster will be submitted for viewing on the website and available in the March Collagraph newsletter.

We apologize for any confusion. If you have any questions about memberships please call Jessica at (209) 466-6604 or email at gallery@stocktonartleague.org
